Welcome

When visitors come to Marine Corps Air Station Cherry Point, one of the first things many of them notice is the roar of jet aircraft passing over the front gate on their way to or from runway number 5/23. Outside the gate, on a sign, are the words, “Pardon our noise, it’s the sound of freedom.” For more than 60 years, those sounds of freedom have echoed through local skies, from the deep, guttural growl of amphibious biplanes and single wing attack aircraft during World War II, to the piercing whine of today’s sleek and sophisticated jets. Those sounds are music to the ears of the Marines who fight on the ground, for there is nothing Marines like better than to have Marine artillery behind them, Marine intelligence in front of them, and Marine aircraft overhead.

Located only 20 miles from some of the Atlantic’s most beautiful beaches, Cherry Point is about 90 miles west-southwest of Cape Hatteras, at the foot of the great Outer Banks. It is perhaps appropriate that the home of such a powerful aviation arsenal is just down the coast from Kitty Hawk, where winged aviation got its start.

Duty at Cherry Point is challenging. Whether you’re headed for the 2d Marine Aircraft Wing for duty with the FMF, or support service with the air station or one of its tenant activities, the tasks are varied and rewarding. And they’re all directed toward the same end — providing country and Corps with a combat-ready aerial striking force.

This guide is designed to give you a comprehensive snapshot of Cherry Point, from information about the commands that work here, to housing and shopping information, to off-duty activities that are available on and off base.

For more than 60 years, those sounds of freedom have echoed through local skies...

Stories of how

History

Cherry Point got its name are many and varied, but if you ask the old timers, this is the story you'll get...

MCAS CHERRY POINT HISTORY

It is said that the name "Cherry Point" comes from a post office established in the area for the Blades Lumber people some years ago. The post office was closed in 1935. The original "Point" was on the south side of the Neuse River east of Hancock Creek, and the word "Cherry" came from cherry trees that at one time grew on the point.

Congress authorized Marine Corps Air Station Cherry Point on July 9, 1941, with an initial appropriation of $14,990,000 for construction and clearing of an 8,000-acre tract of swamps, farms and timberland.

Actual clearing of the site began on August 6, 1941, with extensive drainage and malaria control work. Construction began in November just 17 days before the attack on Pearl Harbor.

Cherry Point's first Commanding Officer, LtCol. Thomas J. Cushman, landed the first plane, a J2F Grumman amphibious biplane, at the air station on March 18, 1942.

The air station was commissioned on May 20, 1942, as Cunningham Field, in honor of the Marine Corps' first aviator, Lt. Alfred A. Cunningham. In August 1942, one year after land clearing began, the first Marines arrived.

Cherry Point is one of the best all-weather jet bases in the world. The air station and its associated support location occupy nearly 16 thousand acres.

Cherry Point's runway system is so large that the air station serves as an alternate emergency-landing site for space shuttle launches out of Cape Canaveral, Fla.

Cherry Point is home to Marine Transport Squadron 1, which includes the well-known search and rescue unit affectionately referred to as "Pedro." In addition to its military search and rescue duties, Pedro also serves the local community with its medical evacuation and search and rescue capabilities.

As a testimony to the Station's ongoing quality of life initiatives and responsible community outreach efforts, MCAS Cherry Point received in March the Commander-In-Chief's Installation Excellence Award for fiscal year 2003. The Station has claimed the title an unprecedented seven out of the last 15 years.

2D MAW HISTORY

The Marines and Sailors of 2d Marine Aircraft Wing may call the Eastern Carolinas home, but their powerful presence can be felt almost anywhere on the globe. From dawn to dawn, hemisphere to hemisphere, forward deployments allow the sun to always shine on the 2d MAW.

Continuing a legacy that began with 2d MAW's commissioning in July 1941 commitment and comradeship were always evident especially in times of crisis.

The 2d MAW was originally headquartered in San Diego. It consisted of six squadrons, two in San Diego and four in Hawaii.

Although the Hawaii based squadrons sustained extensive damage during the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, 7 December 1941, 2d MAW retained its fighting spirit and subsequently contributed to 83 South Pacific combat operations. Marines and aircraft from 2d MAW participated in major battles or campaigns at Wake Island, Okinawa, Midway, Saipan, Guadalcanal, Tinian and Guam.

In April 1946, 2d MAW relocated to its present home at MCAS Cherry Point, NC. During the Vietnam War, 2d MAW supplied combat-ready units and personnel to operations in the Asian Theater.

In the 1980's, 2d MAW units were active participants in exercises and operations around the globe, to include those in Lebanon, Cuba, Grenada, Panama, and the Dominican Republic.

The decade of the 90's began with Operations Desert Shield and Desert Storm. The fall of the Berlin Wall and the collapse of the Soviet Union followed it in brief succession. The millennium closed with 2d MAW squadrons prosecuting and supporting NATO air strikes in Kosovo and Serbia during Operation Allied Force, and flying support during Operation Northern Watch from Incirlik, Turkey.

The beginning of the new millennium brought continued active participation in exercises and operations around the United States and around the world. From 2000 through 2002: Prowler squadrons deployed in support of Operation Southern Watch, Operation Northern Watch and UDP rotations to Japan; Harrier and helicopter squadrons deployed in support of the 22nd, 24th and 26th Marine Expeditionary Units; Hornet squadrons deployed aboard the USS Harry S. Truman with Carrier Wing 3; and MWSSG-27 and MACG-28 deployed personnel in support of all exercises and operations in which 2dMAW flying squadrons were participating.

In early 2001 VMFA-312 and VMAQ-3 participated in a joint combined strike against Iraq. This marked the first Marine Corps combat use of the Joint Standoff Weapon (JSOW). In 2002 2dMAW units deployed to Spain to participate in the NATO sponsored Exercise Dynamic Mix. Additionally, VMA-542 and HMM-261 flew combat missions over Afghanistan and conducted humanitarian missions in Djibouti. The Marines of VMA-542 were among the first to employ the LITENING 2 targeting pod in combat.

Today, 2d MAW provides the FMF with offensive air support, anti-air warfare, assault support, aerial reconnaissance, active and passive electronic countermeasures, and control of aircraft and missiles. Additionally, 2d MAW may participate as an integral component of naval aviation in the execution of other Navy functions as the Fleet Commander may direct. 2d MAW also may provide humanitarian relief as required throughout the Echelon II Commander's area of responsibility.

Highlights from 2003 include the 2d MAW deployment of more than 7,700 Marines and Sailors in support of the Global War On Terrorism, operations Iraqi Freedom, Enduring Freedom, and Joint Task Force Horn of Africa. More than 200 tactical combat aircraft flew in support of Global War On Terrorism operations. They supported combat and contingency operations around the globe, with greater than 70 percent command and control, support group, and aircraft deployed simultaneously. Additionally, the Wing continued to support UDPs, and even extended one squadron for a 12 month deployment while providing a Harrier detachment to cover a 3d MAW UDP rotation.

In January 03, 2dMAW personnel began deploying to undisclosed locations in the Middle East. Harriers and helicopters flew aboard amphibious ships as Marines from MAG-29, MAG-14, MWSSG-27, MACG-28, MWSS-272 deployed for the Middle East with the 2nd Marine Expeditionary Brigade and Amphibious Task Force Tarawa. Marines from VMGR-252, VMFA-251 and VMFA(AW)-533 deployed to Al Jaber Airbase in Kuwait. Marines from VMAQ-1 and VMAQ-2 combined to deploy 10 Prowlers to Prince Sultan Airbase in Saudi Arabia. In an exceptional demonstration of mobility, Marines from Cherry Point (MALS-14), Beaufort (MALS 31) and Yuma, AZ (MALS-11) deployed from Morehead City aboard the SS Wright to provide intermediate level maintenance to Marine aircraft in the Middle East. Marines from MWHS-2, MAG-14, and MACG-28 also deployed to augment the Tactical Air Command Center located at Al Jaber Airbase.

In March 03, the war with Iraq began and brought the departure of the 26th MEU. In April, the Pentagon declared an end to significant fighting in Iraq as Marines stormed the heart of Tikrit. In May, 2dMAW units assigned to the 24th MEU returned home, and by the end of July, most of the 2dMAW units that deployed to Iraq, had returned to MCAS Cherry Point, New River or Beaufort.

On 08 September, 2003, Marines from VMU-2 returned to Cherry Point from Iraq. VMU-2 had deployed to the Middle East in January 2003 and they were the last 2dMAW squadron to leave Iraq.

Out of 44 squadrons and more than 15,000 personnel in 2dMAW, more than seven thousand Marines and over half of the squadrons deployed into combat. During Operation Iraqi Freedom, 2d MAW units flew over 7,800 combat sorties, expended over 3.9 million pounds of ordnance, carried over 10,000 troops and 6.2 million pounds of cargo, built five base camps, two Expeditionary Airfields, ten Forward Area Arming and Refueling Points and three Forward Operating Bases.

The world is fraught with regional conflicts, natural disasters, and political uncertainties. This repeatedly calls for assistance from the United States and its military might, which includes Marines, Sailors, equipment and units from 2d MAW. Today, 2d MAW's Marines, Sailors, and numerous fighters, attack jets, electronic countermeasures aircraft, helicopters, unmanned aerial vehicles and refueling and transport aircraft remain active around the world.

MCAS NEW RIVER HISTORY

Tucked in the gentle rolling hills of Eastern North Carolina, amidst pine trees and beautiful white, sandy beaches, Marine Corps Air Station New River, N.C., has had a tremendous impact on the surrounding community and has played a major role in Marine Corps aviation since its beginning in 1944.

Although 1944 is celebrated as New River's birth date, the Air Station's roots go further back. In 1941, the federal government purchased land where MCAS New River and the adjacent base are today for almost $65,000. The next year, Capt. Barnett Robinson of Marine Glider Squadron-71 surveyed the area around New River. His investigation concluded that the site would be suitable for land and seaplane operations.

The first squadron, Marine Bombing Squadron-612, arrived in 1943. The light bombers, known as the PBJ, resembled the Army's B-25 Mitchell bomber. VMB-612 remained here until being deployed to the Pacific in World War II. Shortly after their departure, the Air Station was commissioned as Peterfield Point, named after a farmer whose tobacco field made up most of the land. The separation from Camp Lejeune in 1944 marked the Air Station's birth date.

After the war, Peterfield Point was reverted to caretaker status until being reopened in 1951 as Marine Corps Air Facility, Peterfield Point, Camp Lejeune. One year later it was renamed Marine Corps Air Facility, New River, after the river that flows along its eastern border.

The first helicopters arrived in 1954 when Marine Aircraft Group 26 moved here from Marine Corps Air Station Cherry Point, N.C. The move began New River's permanent role in the Marine Air-Ground concept.

In 1968, the Air Station changed its name once again to Marine Corps Air Station (Helicopter) New River. The change marked the Air Station's development from a small training base into a major tactical Marine airfield. The "Helicopter" designation was dropped in 1985.

Today 5,900 Marines and Sailors operate out of the two groups and support squadrons aboard the 2,772-acre Air Station.

Both MAG 26 and MAG 29, commissioned in 1972, support one heavy helicopter squadron, one light/attack helicopter squadron, one logistic squadron and three medium helicopter squadrons apiece. MAG 26 is also home to Marine Medium Tiltrotor Training Squadron-204, the Marine Corps' premier V-22 Osprey squadron, and MAG 29 hosts Marine Helicopter Training Squadron-302.

Also in 1972, the airfield aboard New River was renamed McCutcheon Field after Gen. Keith B. McCutcheon, one of the fathers of Marine Corps aviation.

Both Marine Aircraft Groups work closely together and provide support for the ground forces of Fleet Marine Forces Atlantic. Over the years, aircraft from the two Groups have operated in "hot spots" all over the world, including Cuba, Lebanon, Haiti, Iraq, Kuwait and Saudi Arabia to name a few.

Behind every good aircraft group is of course a good support squadron. The Marines of both MAG's rely heavily on Marine Wing Support Squadron-272 for support of almost every exercise and mission.

The squadron has cooks, engineers, communicators, motor transport operators, weather observers, refuelers and many other occupation specialties.

Another part of the supporting cast in the overall operations of the Station is Marine Air Control Squadron-2, Air Traffic Control Detachment B. The detachment's 70 Marines play a vital role in providing air traffic control for the Station as well as maintaining gear such as field ATC towers, radar and other equipment for deployments.

The nucleus of Station operations is Headquarters and Headquarters Squadron. The Marines, Sailors and civilians in the squadron make up the backbone of the Air Station's daily operations.

New River's Battle Colors include the Meritorious Unit Commendation streamer, American Campaign streamer, World War II Victory streamer and National Defense Service streamer with two bronze stars.

MCAS BEAUFORT HISTORY

Throughout its 60-year history, Marine Corps Air Station Beaufort, South Carolina has been an important asset in conflicts involving the United States. From Desert Shield/Storm to Operation Iraqi Freedom, the Marines and Sailors of the Air Station have performed missions honorably. Fightertown has been active in the Global War on Terrorism since it began. Working as a Navy-Marine Corps team while deployed aboard the aircraft carrier USS Theodore Roosevelt in support of Operation Enduring Freedom, Marine Fighter Attack Squadron 251, Navy Strike Fighter Squadron 86, and Navy Strike Fighter Squadron 82 fought admirably. Marine Fighter Attack Squadron 251, the “Thunderbolts,” dropped more than 225 tons of ordnance, of which 95% was precision guided. Seven hundred combat sorties were flown in five months. Of the 5,300 total hours flown, 3,600 hours were combat missions. There was a 100% sortie completion rate in support of Operation Enduring Freedom. There were 1,900 arrested landings aboard the Teddy Roosevelt. Navy Strike Fighter Squadron 86, the “Sidewinders,” dropped more than 216 tons of ordnance and flew 698 combat sorties in five months. Of the 5,122.9 total hours flown, 3,500 hours were combat missions. There were 1,812 total sorties flown. Navy Strike Fighter Squadron 82, the “Marauders,” dropped 215.5 tons of ordnance and flew 702 combat sorties in five months. Of the 5,372.6 total hours flown, 3,631 hours were combat missions. There were 1,877 arrested landing aboard the Teddy Roosevelt. The squadron set the all-time record for F/A-18 flight hours in a single month by flying 1309.3 hours. The TR deployment set the post-WWII record for most days at sea at 159 days. (Previous record was 154 days in 1979 during the Iranian crisis.)

During the latest conflict, Marine fighter attack squadrons from the air station were called into action over the skies of Iraq. Marine Fighter Attack Squadron 115 departed in December on a regularly scheduled deployment aboard the aircraft carrier USS Harry S. Truman, but was soon also supporting OIF. In February, VMFA(AW)-533 and VMFA-251 deployed to Kuwait in support of Operation Iraqi Freedom. VMFA-115 flew 257 combat sorties, accumulating 1288 total flight hours and expended 156 tons of ordnance. VMFA-251 flew 502 combat sorties, accumulating 1052.7 total flight hours and expended 367.46 tons of ordnance. VMFA(AW)-533 flew 558 combat sorties, accumulating 1440.4 total flight hours and expended 401.71 tons of ordnance. More than 1,800 Marines and Sailors from Marine Air Control Squadron 2, Marine Aviation Logistics Squadron 31, Combat Service Support Detachment 23, Marine Wing Support Group 273 along with the fighter squadrons were sent to the Middle East in support of OIF. Because VMFA(AW)-533 was sent to the Middle East, VMFA-122 was required to extend their deployment in Iwakuni, Japan indefinitely. The squadron had originally left the air station in July 2002 for a six-month deployment. As the squadrons returned from OIF in May, families and Lowcountry communities welcomed them back proudly as heroes. VMFA-122 returned over the past few days. The seven Marine squadrons belong to Marine Aircraft Group 31, one of the world's largest aircraft groups, which includes the majority of the Marines and Sailors working here. Its size, combined with MAG-31's reputation for tactical proficiency, has earned the Air Station the title “Fightertown.”

Commissioned Naval Air Station Beaufort on June 15, 1943, the facility was home base for advanced training and operation of anti-submarine patrols operating along the United States' Southeastern seaboard during World War II. Deactivated in 1946, the facility was reactivated a Marine Corps Auxiliary Airfield in 1956 and on March 1, 1960, the facility was re-designated Marine Corps Air Station Beaufort. On September 19, 1975, the airfield was named Merritt Field in honor of Ridge Spring, S.C. native, Major General Louis G. Merritt, USMCR. The main portion of the MCAS Beaufort remains Merritt Field, 3.9 million square yards of runways and taxiways, which has played a key role in national and worldwide training exercises and operations.

Marine Corps Air Station Beaufort is also the home of several other Fleet Marine Force (FMF) units to include Marine Wing Support Squadron 273, Marine Air Control Squadron 2 and Combat Service Support Detachment 23. The Air Station covers 6,900 acres within Beaufort County and controls an additional 5,200 acres at the Townsend Bombing Range in McIntosh County, Ga. This range is managed by the Georgia Air National Guard and provides Fightertown pilots the opportunity to train for air-ground combat. Continuous training is the focus of the seven F/A-18 Hornet fighter-attack squadrons which, along with a headquarters element, comprise MAG-31. The Hornet squadrons, also known as “gun squadrons,” are VMFA 115, ‘122, ‘251, ‘312, as well as VMFA(AW)s 224, ‘332 and ‘533. The MAG-31 headquarters element and these squadrons are Fleet Marine Force units under 2nd Marine Aircraft Wing headquartered at Marine Corps

Air Station Cherry Point, NC. Two Navy F/A-18 squadrons also call MCAS Beaufort home. Strike Fighter Squadrons 82 and 86 fall under the operational command of Commander Strike Fighter Wing Atlantic, headquartered at NAS Oceana, Virginia.

Other major tenant Fleet Marine Force units headquartered at MCAS Beaufort include Marine Wing Support Squadron 273. It has combat engineer, utilities, heavy equipment, motor transport and construction sections. Another is Marine Air Control Squadron 2, capable of establishing a fully functioning expeditionary airfield. Marine Aviation Logistics Squadron 31 performs maintenance on the complex jet aircraft and “keeps them flying.” Combat Service Support Detachment 23 is under the command of 2nd Force Service Support Group headquartered at Camp Lejeune, N.C. This detachment supports the Air Station with communications, supply, dental, medical personnel and military police. Headquarters and Headquarters Squadron provides service support such as refueling, logistics, aircraft recovery, firefighting and cooks to all units aboard the MCAS. Air Station military members, their families and civilian employees number nearly 13,000 and have long been an integral part of the Lowcountry community. They are pleased to call the greater Beaufort area “home.”

MCAF QUANTICO HISTORY

Aviation first arrived at Quantico in July 1918, when two kite balloons were flown to spot artillery fire. These forerunners of today's spotter aircraft were soon augmented with the assignment of four seaplanes, which operated from the muddy junction of Chopawamsic Creek and the Potomac River.

In 1919, a flying field was laid out and the land leased to accommodate a squadron returning from World War I combat in Europe. The facility was later named Brown Field, in memory of 2nd Lt. Walter V. Brown, who lost his life in an early accident at that location. The present site was selected in 1931, when larger and faster planes brought recognition of the limitations and hazards of Brown Field—its single, crosswind runway, bound by trees, hills, swamp, a high tension line and a railroad.

A new airfield was constructed by changing the course and flow of Chopawamsic Creek and reclamation of the marshland from that area. The new facility was named Turner Field—after Colonel Thomas C. Turner, a veteran Marine aviator, who lost his life in Haiti in 1931.

By 1939, four squadrons—68 bombers, scout bombers, fighters, transports, utility and observation planes—were based here. On 1 December 1941, the field was named Marine Corps Air Station, Quantico, and placed under operational control of the Commanding General, Marine Barracks.

In 1947, Marine Helicopter Squadron One was established at Quantico to pioneer an entirely new concept in air operation; to evaluate and test, in coordination with the Landing Force Development Center, the theory of carrying troops to the battle zone by helicopter.

By the close of the Korean conflict, helicopters had gained permanent acceptance by the military for tactical and logistical support operations.

Effective 15 November 1976, MCAS Quantico was re-designated as Marine Corps Air Facility (MCAF), Quantico, Virginia. MCAF Quantico is currently the home of Headquarters Squadron (HqSqn) and Marine Helicopter Squadron One (HMX-1). HMX-1, in addition to its tactical development mission, flies the President of the United States and provides helicopter support for the Marine Corps Combat Development Command.

On 20 October 1992, MCAF Quantico was reorganized under the Commander, Marine Corps Air Bases, Eastern Area, headquartered at Marine Corps Air Station, Cherry Point, North Carolina.

HH-46D SEA KNIGHT "PEDRO"

Marine Transport Squadron 1 is home of three HH-46D Sea Knight helicopters, affectionately known as Pedro. The primary mission of these specially equipped Sea Knights is to provide heliborne search and rescue support for tactical aircraft flying here. The secondary mission of the helicopter and its crew is to provide SAR support for the 5th Coast Guard District and the U.S. Air Force.

Pedro is a regular sight over coastal North Carolina, because another regular mission is to provide local civilian agencies with medical evacuation assistance in situations the agencies can not respond to. In a single four-day period during September 1999, VMR-1's three helicopters operated simultaneously to rescue 399 people trapped by Hurricane Floyd floodwaters in nearby counties. To local boaters and hunters lost or in trouble, the sight of this orange and gray rescue bird is a sight for sore eyes... perhaps even a life saver.

Each helicopter is equipped with a Doppler navigation/hover system, external rescue hoist, a 30 million candlepower search light, and other essential life-saving equipment. A five-person crew operates each Pedro helicopter. Two pilots, a crew chief, a rescue swimmer and a medical technician all risk their lives for the lives of others. On average, Pedro responds to 75 emergency calls each year.

Checking in

is always open.

LOCATION

Cherry Point is located midway between New Bern and Morehead City, N.C. The main gate is off North Carolina Highway 101, which connects with U.S. Highway 70 adjacent to the city of Havelock. On a large-scale map, Cherry Point can be pinpointed about 90 miles west-southwest of Cape Hatteras on the Neuse River in Craven County.

The area enjoys a temperate climate with relatively mild winters, hot and humid summers, and precipitation throughout the year. The average annual rainfall is over 50 inches, and snow, although rare, does visit the area occasionally. Topography is relatively flat, approximately 27 feet above sea level.

GETTING HERE

Means of commercial transportation into the area are:

By Air: The closest commercial airport to Cherry Point is Craven County Regional Airport, in New Bern. Approximately 20 miles from the air station, it is serviced by U.S. Airways Express and Midway Corporation Airlines, with a major connecting point at Charlotte, N.C., which has connections to all major airports. For reservations, call 1-800-428-4322. Taxicab service and car rentals are available.

By Bus: Cherry Point is served by Carolina Trailways. The bus depot is located next door to the Welcome Center in the main gate complex. Call 252-466-9287 for more information.

CHECKING IN

The majority of servicemembers come here for permanent duty. However, a sizable number also report for temporary duty to the many schools offered at Cherry Point, as well as visiting teams and organizations.

If you're reporting aboard, you'll first go to the Welcome Center, Bldg. 251, at the main gate, where you will get your orders endorsed. The Welcome Center is always open. From there, if you are a Marine, you will go to the Joint Reception Center—during regular working hours—at Bldg. 298 (on the wing facing the chapel) for further processing. After regular working hours, unless you already have other billeting arrangements, you may report to the Temporary Enlisted Quarters and Temporary Officers Quarters. Both the TEQ and TOQ are open 24 hours a day.

Sailors new to the base will also go to the Welcome Center first, but from there will report directly to their assigned units.

For those who choose to stay on the base while they check in, the TEQ offers very reasonable rates. Normally, officers will be furnished quarters at the BOQ, while staff NCOs and enlisted Marines and sailors will be billeted at the TEQ. The TEQ has family rooms available at a charge of $14 per day. Room reservations are suggested, and a minimal room charge is assessed. Reservations may be made by calling (252) 466-3060. Officers desiring temporary lodging should call the TOQ at (252) 466-5169.

VEHICLE REGISTRATION AND INFORMATION

If you live, work, or frequently use the facilities aboard the air station, your privately owned vehicle must be registered properly at the Pass and Identification Office, Bldg. 251, located at the main gate. At the time of registration, you will receive the appropriate decal. Registration will require:

- A valid active duty, retired, dependent or civilian ID card.
- Evidence of vehicle ownership and registration certificate.

- A valid state driver's license.
- A valid safety inspection sticker.
- Proof of insurance in a minimum amount of $30,000 personal liability, $60,000 per accident coverage, and $25,000 property damage liability.
- (Military drivers 26 years old and under) certificate of completion of a military safe driving course.
- (Motorcycle and moped drivers) certificate of completion of a motorcycle operators course.

The Pass and ID Office hours of operation are 7:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, except for holidays. Temporary and one-day visitor passes are available 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

Air station speed limits: The station speed limit is 25 to 45 mph where posted. All government housing areas have a 15-20 mph speed limit, and parking lots have a 10 mph speed limit. When approaching or passing columns of troops in formation or other pedestrians on the road, the speed limit is 10 mph.

Seat belts: Wear them! It's a DoD regulation and a North Carolina state law that seat belts will be worn in government and civilian vehicles on or off the air station by all vehicle occupants.

Bicycles: When you ride a bicycle on base, you must wear a certified bicycle helmet at all times. Although bikes are permitted on most areas of the base, they are restricted from Roosevelt Blvd., which runs from the main gate through the base and into officer housing. Sidewalks and the Roosevelt bicycle path must be used along this road.

Firearms registration: If you live on base, you must register any firearm you own at the Pass and ID Office. Firearms cannot be kept in the BOQ or BEQ; however, they may be stored in your unit's armory. Residents in other government housing may keep their registered firearms within their homes.

2D MARINE AIRCRAFT WING

The 2d Marine Aircraft Wing was commissioned on July 19, 1941, at NAS San Diego, Calif. By November of that year, it had two squadrons at San Diego and four in Hawaii. Many of these planes were destroyed or damaged during the Japanese attack at Pearl Harbor on December 7, 1941.

Regrouping from the initial setback, the 2d MAW chalked up an impressive record of excellence in 83 combat operations in the Pacific. Its contributions at Wake Island, Midway, Guadalcanal, Saipan, Tinian, Guam, and Okinawa were invaluable.

After duty with occupational forces in Japan, the 2d MAW returned to the States and made Cherry Point its home in April of 1946.

Since then it has been committed in contingency operations exercises in the Mediterranean, Caribbean and Panama. Wing units were deployed during crisis in Lebanon, Cuba, the Dominican Republic, and the Middle East. During the Vietnam War, the 2d MAW supplied combat-ready units and personnel to Marine aircraft wings in-country, while maintaining its strenuous deployment schedule.

Most recently, 2d MAW Marines and sailors served with distinction in the war in the Persian Gulf. They filled a wide range of combat missions, including fighter support, heavy bombing, close-air support for ground troops, transport, aerial and ground refueling, air traffic control, ground-to-air defense missile support, and a myriad of other types of support during the Gulf War.

Today the 2d MAW remains headquartered at MCAS Cherry Point, with elements located at MCAS New River, N.C., and MCAS Beaufort, S.C.

Equipped with helicopters, fighters, attack and refueler/transport aircraft, the 2d MAW stands ready as an integral part of the United States Marine Corps' air-ground team.

MARINE AIRCRAFT GROUP 14

Marine Aircraft Group 14 was activated in San Diego on March 1, 1942, and entered World War II seven months later when it participated in the decisive naval battle of Guadalcanal in mid-November. In January of '43, the group helped eliminate the remnants of the Tokyo Express.

The group was awarded two Presidential Unit Citations for its actions in the Pacific—the first at Guadalcanal, and the second on Okinawa.

MAG-14 transferred to Cherry Point March 13, 1976. In 1993, MAG-14 merged with another 2d MAW aircraft group from Cherry Point, MAG-32, but retained the MAG -14 title. The merger boosted the total strength of MAG-14 by adding three Marine attack squadrons and one Marine attack training squadron. Marine Aviation Logistics Squadron 32 merged with MALS-14 to form the largest aviation logistics squadron in the Marine Corps.

Today, MAG-14 consists of:

- Four tactical electronic warfare squadrons of EA-6B Prowler aircraft, whose missions are to locate and suppress enemy radar, clearing the skies for friendly aircraft.

Each flying squadron walks its area daily in order to collect debris that could adversely affect the performance of local aircraft. Such walks prevent unnecessary and costly aircraft maintenance and help ensure the safety of pilots and the surrounding communities.

EA-6B PROWLER

An EA-6B Prowler from Marine Tactical Electronic Warfare Squadron 4 “Seahawks” practices arrested landings aboard the expeditionary airfield at Marine Corps Auxiliary Landing Field Bogue. MCALF Bogue supports various types of training for all of the U.S. military services to include providing the only East Coast location for Harrier field carrier landing practices.

If the EA-6B Prowler was part of an aerial football team, you might say it was all of the offensive linemen put together. Because its tactical electronic warfare capabilities provide the necessary offensive and defensive maneuvers for its fighter and attack teammates to score big on the enemy team.

More specifically, the Prowler’s primary mission is to provide an umbrella of protection over strike aircraft and ships. It does this through airborne Command and Control support to include electronic attack, tactical electronic support, electronic protection, and the destruction of enemy radar with high speed anti-radiation missiles.

The Prowler is a twin engine, mid-wing aircraft manufactured as a modification of the A-6 Intruder airframe. It can be land-based from prepared airfields, or can operate from expeditionary airfields. It may also strike from the sea by operating from aircraft carriers.

- Three attack squadrons of AV-8B Harriers are the closest air power to combat forces on the ground. With their vertical flight capability they can stay minutes from the front lines of battle.

- One KC-130 Hercules aerial refueler transport squadron provides all the lift and in-flight refueling the Wing needs.

- One attack training squadron and one aerial refueler transport training squadron round out the group by providing the replacement personnel to the Marine Corps' AV-8B and KC-130 communities. An aviation logistics squadron provides everything from supply to maintenance for the flying squadrons.

MARINE WING SUPPORT GROUP 27

The mission of Marine Wing Support Group 27 is to provide all aviation ground support for an aviation combat element and all supporting or attached elements of the Marine air control group.

MWSG-27 was activated July 1, 1953 (originally as a service group) and redesignated as a support group on April 1, 1967. In June 1986, MWSG-27 began a massive Marine Corps-wide reorganization. The reorganization composited personnel and equipment from the wing transportation squadron, the wing engineer squadron, four Marine air base squadrons, and the headquarters and ground maintenance squadron. The result of this reorganization was the establishment of four Marine wing support squadrons under MWSG-27, with each MWSS capable of operating an air base in support of either a rotary-wing Marine air group or a fixed-wing MAG.

MWSG-27 is composed of a group headquarters at Marine Corps Air Station Cherry Point; MWSS-271 at Marine Corps Auxiliary Landing Field Bogue, N.C.; MWSS-272 at Marine Corps Air Station New River, N.C.; MWSS-273 at Marine Corps Air Station Beaufort, S.C.; and MWSS-274 at Cherry Point. Each MWSS provides the following functions to a deployed ACE:

- Internal airfield communications to include wire, radio and data services between tenant units
- Essential engineer services to include construction, mobile electrical power, laundry and hygiene services
- Motor transport support to include HMMWVs, 5-ton trucks, dump trucks, wreckers and LVS trucks
- Aircraft rescue and fire fighting to include structural fire fighting services
- Expeditionary airfield services to include arresting gear, airfield lighting, and optical landing systems
- Refueling services for aircraft and ground equipment
- Weather services for all elements of the MAGTF
- Medical services to include routine and emergency sick call

- Food services
- Security and law enforcement to include air base ground defense
- Individual and unit training
- Nuclear, biological and chemical defense of organic assets
- Air base commandant services
- Explosive ordnance disposal services

MWSG-27 runs the 2d MAW Drivers School which licenses Marines on HMMWVs, five-ton trucks, refueler trucks, and buses. It also runs the 2d MAW Air Base Ground Defense School which trains Marines in the skills necessary to defend an airfield. MWSG-27 operates and maintains the only expeditionary airfield on the East Coast.

MARINE AIR CONTROL GROUP 28

Marine Air Control Group 28 was activated Sept. 1, 1967, and assigned the mission of providing, operating and maintaining the Marine Air Command and Control System of the 2d MAW.

In the performance of this mission, it employs some of the most advanced equipment available for command and control of tactical air operations. The personnel who operate and maintain this sophisticated system are among the most highly trained and skilled in the Marine Corps.

Through the use of computers and digital data links, many of the manual tasks have been replaced by automation. This provides a capability unequaled by any other service.

CHERRYPOINT

AV-8B HARRIER II

A Marine Training Attack Squadron 203 pilot prepares to exit his AV-8B Harrier after setting it down on an improvised airfield (i.e., road) during a capabilities exercise at Marine Corps Base Camp Lejeune.

The mission of the AV-8B Harrier is simple: Attack and destroy surface targets, day or night. The Harrier accomplishes this and more by carrying an assortment of weapons to include air-to-air missiles, air-to-ground missiles, bombs, and a 25mm Gatling-style gun.

Aside from its primary mission of close air support and deep air support, it can also conduct offensive and defensive anti-air warfare. This includes combat air patrol, armed escort missions, and offensive missions against enemy ground-to-air defenses.

But the feature that makes the Harrier particularly well-suited for the Marine Corps is its vertical/short take-off and landing capability. Combining tactical mobility, responsiveness, reduced operating cost and basing flexibility, both afloat and ashore, the Harrier fits right in with the Corps' special combat and expeditionary requirements.

To the Marine grunt on the ground, the Harrier's high-pitched roar is a welcome sound when things get hot, especially because the V/STOL jet can be based only minutes away.

MACG-28 is the largest air control group in the Marine Corps, with five units and nearly 1,800 personnel located at four airfields. The group has a tactical air command squadron, a communications squadron, one air control squadron, an air support squadron, and a low-altitude air defense battalion.

2D MARINE AIRCRAFT WING BAND

The 2d Marine Aircraft Wing Band is a precision musical marching unit consisting of 50 members. It also has a concert band, a big band ensemble, smaller rock and jazz ensembles and brass and woodwind quintets. The unit travels extensively throughout the year, performing at hundreds of civilian and military functions. Last year, the band traveled more than 30,000 miles filling more than 200 local requests for support, and more than 200 out-of-town requests.

NAVAL AVIATION DEPOT

A tenant command, the Naval Aviation Depot (NADEP) provides depot-level maintenance, engineering and logistics services to Navy and Marine Corps fleet units around the world, as well as other agencies within the Department of Defense and the federal government.

The depot was established in 1943 as the Assembly and Repair Department of the Marine Corps Air Station. Since that time, the "Carolina Depot" has grown to be a leader in aviation maintenance. The facility is the only one of the Navy's three naval aviation depots managed by Marine Corps officers.

The depot's workload includes the maintenance and repair of a variety of aircraft and primary aircraft engine systems. Aircraft repaired include the H-46 Sea Knight, AV-8 Harrier, H-53 (all types, models and series), and the QF-4S and F-4E (Egyptian) Phantom. NADEP's Power Plant Division overhauls, assembles, and tests a wide variety of aircraft engines. Engines currently repaired include the F402, T58, T400, J79 and T64. The depot also maintains the T58GE400B engines used to power the VH-3 presidential-executive helicopters.

The depot's Precision Measurement Center is the most advanced metrology inspection laboratory of its kind. In this certified "clean room," Gerard A. Tetreault uses geometric and dimensional tolerances to inspect and analyze aircraft components and support equipment.

NADEP has repair capabilities for approximately 5,500 items in the components program.

Depot personnel are always on call to meet the immediate needs of fleet units around the world. Services they provide include emergency field team repairs, field team modifications, fleet training, customer service and engineering support. When they are needed, these field teams can be deployed quickly to almost any location. In 1998 alone, the Cherry Point depot sent 465 field teams to more than 53 locations worldwide.

With approximately 3,600 employees, NADEP Cherry Point is North Carolina's largest industrial employer east of Interstate 95. The depot's annual payroll exceeds $208 million.

HALYBURTON NAVAL HOSPITAL

General Health Care

Health care aboard Cherry Point is accomplished in several ways, dependent upon whether you are an active duty service member, a retiree, or a dependent family member.

Active duty service members will be treated at the Naval Hospital through the standard "sick call" system by scheduling a same-day appointment at 1-800-931-9501, or at one of the Wing Group Aid Stations medical sites aboard the base. Emergencies at any time will be handled by visiting the Emergency Room or by calling 911.

Dependent family members and retirees will receive health care through one of three TRICARE programs—Standard, Extra or Prime. Where that care is received will be dependent upon which TRICARE program the member is enrolled in. More information about TRICARE is given below.

The Hospital

Halyburton Naval Hospital is named in memory of Pharmacist Mate Second Class William D. Halyburton, a North Carolina native who served with 2/5 Marines as a corpsman during World War II. Petty Officer Halyburton was mortally wounded while rendering care to fallen Marines. In honor of his gallant efforts, he was awarded his nation's highest honor, the Medal of Honor.

The Naval Hospital is a new, 201,805 square foot, 23-bed, state of the art facility. It provides medical support to Marine Corps Air Station Cherry Point, the 2d Marine Aircraft Wing, NADEP, and other tenant organizations. Active duty family members and military retirees are also served here. In total, the hospital serves a population of about 40,000 people. It is accredited by the Joint Commission of Accreditation of Health Care Organizations and is a member of the American Hospital Association.

Services

This facility is staffed and equipped to provide primary care for eligible beneficiaries. Outpatient services available include family practice, OB/GYN, pediatrics, optometry, psychology, physical therapy, military medicine, and internal medicine/ambulatory surgery. Inpatient services include a family medicine unit (general medical/surgical ward), mother/baby unit, and labor and delivery unit. Those patients who require a higher level of care are usually referred to Naval Hospital Camp Lejeune, Naval Medical Center Portsmouth, Va., or to local civilian providers through the TRICARE program.

Emergency Room/Acute Care Clinic

The Emergency Room is available 24 hours a day for the treatment of life-threatening, emergent, or urgent care. The Emergency Room can be reached at 466-0255. Ambulance requests should be made at 911.

HELMS

The Health Education and Lifestyle Management Department (HELMS), offers a wide variety of programs for awareness, promotion, and education on how to live a healthier life. Programs include: nutrition and weight management, smoking cessation, cholesterol screening and education, hypertension management, diabetic nutrition and education, heat injury prevention, and an asthma clinic. This department also sponsors the Semper Fit 2000 program, which is designed to promote and educate active duty Marines and sailors on how to live a more healthy lifestyle. The Healthwise Handbook is designed to allow the individual to have a role in his healthcare. It is not designed to replace care at the hospital or clinic, but rather to augment it. It is full of helpful tips on how to manage minor illness and injuries. It also tells when one should seek medical attention from a healthcare professional. Please call 466-0495 or 466-0221 for more information.

Occupational Health

The Occupational Health Department at the hospital provides DoD employees with a wide range of services, mostly related to the work environment. In particular, the monitoring of personnel who work in hazardous areas or with hazardous materials, and the treatment of occupational related injuries. Another function is the preventative medicine program which includes everything from immunizations to monitoring communicable diseases to sanitary inspections of food service facilities aboard the air station. Finally, the industrial hygiene division is charged with the mission of protecting employees from occupational injury and occupational exposure to hazardous substances. This is done through enforcement of regulations and regular inspections at hazardous work areas.

Rapidly rising health care costs, and the closure of military bases, along with their hospitals, require that the military find new ways to provide health care. TRICARE is the Department of Defense response to this challenge.

TRICARE is the medical program for active duty, qualified family members, eligible retirees and their family members and survivors under age 65.

The TRICARE program is managed by the military in partnership with civilian contractors. It is designed to expand access to care, ensure high quality care, control health care costs for patients and taxpayers alike, and improve medical readiness.

TRICARE offers beneficiaries three choices for their health care: TRICARE Standard, a fee-for-service option that is the same as CHAMPUS; TRICARE Extra, a preferred provider option that saves money over Standard; and TRICARE Prime, an HMO-type option, where Military Treatment Facilities are the principal source of health care.

The main challenge for most is deciding which TRICARE option is best for them. Enrollment is only required for TRICARE Prime. There are no enrollment fees for active duty families in TRICARE Prime.

Personnel new to the area should contact the TRICARE at 1-800-931-9501, or visit the hospital's TRICARE service center during check-in, to determine the best option.

Dental Clinic

Dental care for active duty personnel is provided by the 12th Dental Company/Branch Dental Clinic, 2d FSSG. Although a completely separate command, the 12th Dental Company is located within the second deck of the Naval Hospital. It provides routine and emergency care for active duty members of the air station, 2d MAW, and other tenant organizations aboard the air station.

Annual examinations, overseas screening, and routine checkups are done by walk-in from 7:30 – 11 a.m. and 1:30 – 3:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, at five- and 10-minute intervals. Sick Call patients will be seen Monday through Friday from 7 – 7:30 a.m. and 1 – 4:30 p.m. Regular appointments are made Monday through Thursday 7 a.m. – 4 p.m., and Friday 7 a.m. – 3 p.m. A 24-hour dental watch is maintained for emergencies that occur after regular working hours. The duty dental technician can be reached after hours at 466-0435. Patients can call 466-0400 for appointments and information on the dental services offered.

Fleet Aviation Specialized Operational Training Group Atlantic (FASO)

Headquartered in Norfolk, Va., FASOTRAGRULANT has several detachments, one of which is located at Cherry Point. The detachment's mission is to provide training for officer and enlisted members in the administration procedures for the Naval Aviation Maintenance Management Program.

Approximately 1,000 students undergo training each year at Cherry Point's detachment located in Bldg. 4335, Rm. 217. Currently 12 enlisted personnel are assigned, nine of whom are instructors.

NAVAL AIR TRAINING

Fleet Replacement Enlisted Skills Training provides technical training in maintenance, operation and repair of aircraft systems and associated equipment.

There are three divisions located in four facilities aboard the air station. FREST provides technical training for a variety of aircraft communities covering 16 military occupational specialties for approximately 2,300 students annually.

DEFENSE DISTRIBUTION DEPOT

The mission of Defense Distribution Depot Cherry Point (DDCN) is unique among Defense Logistic Agency depots. It is the only distribution depot where all material, equipment and components assigned are in support of fixed- and rotary-winged aircraft maintenance and repair. DDCN stocks more than 109,000 line items of material, equipment and components valued at approximately $2.7 billion. Ranging from washers to engines, monthly sales average $55 million.

DDCN provides support to DoD customers worldwide and participates in the Foreign Military Sales program. Locally, the Naval Aviation Depot and the 2d MAW and its deployed units are the main customers. They account for 52 percent of all material release orders processed by the depot.

Multi-faceted in capability, DDCN performs all specialized packaging, preservation and crating of components. The depot is Naval Air System Command's proponent for custody, preservation, handling and shipping of assigned engines.

In support of U.S. Marine deployments, exercises and mobilizations, DDCN provides rigging, loading, blocking/bracing and transportation services for essential air and ground support equipment, weapons and vehicles. Within Cherry Point, DDCN is preservation and packaging, central receiving, local delivery, rigging operations and the area transportation office.

MARINE CORPS AIR STATION

Cherry Point has 3 marinas situated on the beautiful Neuse River.

Fishing, kayaking and sailing are just a few ways to enjoy your leisure time.

Marine Corps Community Services

Life in the military is challenging in many ways, especially when it comes to adjusting to new geographical locations. Servicemembers and their families come from a myriad of places around the country and around the globe.

What does this mean when they move to Cherry Point? It means they often must adjust to a completely new environment; everything from the local climate, to the small-town flavor of the local community, to the local cuisine, and hundreds of other differences from what they may have been used to in other locations.

Sometimes the difficulty of the adjustments is compounded by separation from parents, siblings or other family support. Sometimes it's just the task of making new friends in a strange new world.

Veterans of these relocations will tell you that there are “up” sides to these moves that are often overlooked by younger, new military families. Most of these “up” sides can be summed up in one word—opportunity—because they have learned that every military move is full of new opportunities.

This is where Marine Corps Community Services comes in.

Just as our name suggests, we are here to serve the Marine Corps Community. This includes both active duty and retired military personnel and their families. Many of our services are also available to federally employed civilians.

MCCS is comprised of both the former Morale, Welfare and Recreation and Family Services Departments. This merger provides our servicemembers and their families with a more complete source of programs and services designed to make life more enjoyable while serving in the military. It is our mission to “Enrich the lives of our military community by providing consistent, high quality programs, services and facilities that promote healthy lifestyles and improve morale, readiness and retention.” The Marine Corps has long been known as a dedicated and disciplined force in readiness; and MCCS helps our Marines to continue in this tradition by supporting families, offering quality off-duty entertainment and providing health and fitness opportunities.

Take a closer look at what your MCCS has to offer:

SEMPER FIT DIVISION

Marine Corps Community Services is proud of its many programs offered by the Semper Fit Division. This division includes all of our health and fitness programs for adults and youths, the gyms, aquatics, community recreation and the Semper Fit Center.

The Athletics Division coordinates a variety of sports including basketball, softball, baseball, track, rugby and volleyball. Many of Cherry Point's teams travel to competitions and have earned first place titles in various competitive sports events. You and your family have a comprehensive collection of exceptional athletic fields to choose from to include: rugby, football, beach volleyball and baseball complete with lights, bleachers and restrooms. Any of our military members can use our fields, courts and other facilities.

The Life Center is a computerized network system that tracks and prints the performance and improvements of our patrons. Personal trainers are also on staff.

The massive Marine Dome is capable of hosting three basketball games simultaneously. Or play volleyball, racquetball or use the boxing bags. The men's locker room has a steam room and sauna. Plus the women's locker room has a sauna.

The Single Marine Program, also an integral part of the Semper Fit Division, is a very active program aimed at giving our Single Marines a variety of ways to spend their free time. From football and ice skating trips, to pool and chess tournaments, you never know what's coming up. This program is housed in the RoadHouse.

The RoadHouse is a unique, multifaceted center where our patrons can eat a delicious meal, enjoy a cold one in the Dog-House Bar or enjoy one of our many forms of entertainment including video games, big screen televisions, internet computers, billiards and more. Though an all ranks facility, the RoadHouse is targeted for the enjoyment of our enlisted Marines and Sailors who are E-5 and below. There's dancing and DJs on the weekends and outrageous holiday parties throughout the year. The RoadHouse is also conveniently located to Marines living in barracks.

Family Housing

If you are married and bringing a family to Cherry Point, perhaps the most important thing on your checklist is housing. The Off-Station Housing Referral Office, located within the Housing Department in Bldg. 298, has numerous listings of rental and sale residencies. Contact with this office is required as part of the check-in procedure before any commitment for private housing is made.

The wait for government housing can be anywhere from a few weeks to a few months, depending on how many people are on the waiting list.

The Transient Enlisted Quarters (TEQ) and Transient Officers Quarters (TOQ) are available on a space-available basis for members and their families traveling on PCS orders. Before going to a motel or other temporary accommodations, a statement of “non-availability” must be obtained from the TEQ or TOQ. Temporary rentals while awaiting housing are available, primarily mobile homes, efficiency apartments and motels—some with kitchenettes. Linens and utensils are not usually provided at these rentals.

In addition to those government housing units listed in the chart, Cherry Point also has a mobile home park with 76 spaces available.

For more information on the mobile home park and the housing units, call the Housing Office at (252) 466-3602.

Residents of family housing have for their convenience the Self-Help Store, located in Bldg. 144 on Wright Road. The Self-Help Store has a stock of items available free to maintain quarters. Items include grass seed, com-mode seats, filters for heat pumps, spackling and caulking compound. Some items require a voucher from the area manager. Only service members and their spouses may be issued items. Hours are 7 a.m. – 4:30 p.m., Monday – Friday; and Saturdays from 7 a.m. – 2 p.m. Call 466-5287 for more information.

Whether living on or off of the air station, renter’s insurance is a wise investment.

Cherry Point's Neighbors

Four hundred years ago, the New World was first explored by spirited men and women in search of adventure on the outer banks of North Carolina. In the tradition of the early explorers, there are new worlds to discover and endless adventures waiting for you on the inner and outer banks of North Carolina.

Craven County, midway along the state's coastal fringe, is rich in history, architecture. Meandering creeks run clean and are excellent for power boating, sailing, swimming, and fishing. The vast Croatan National Forest covers approximately 160,000 acres with 4,300 acres of lakes and 40 miles of streams—a home to deer, bear, alligators, and exotic plants.

The county's major cities are large enough to have all the conveniences of a big city, yet small enough to be free of problems that plague metropolitan areas.

Havelock, the gateway to Cherry Point, is the air station's closest neighbor. U.S. Highway 70 North and Carolina Highway 101 intersect in the center of town about 500 yards from the main gate.

The city of approximately 25,000 has several shopping centers and offers a variety of community activities year round, one of which is an annual Chili Festival, usually held in October. Havelock is the home of a Harrier monument which stands adjacent to the City Park and is testimony to the close rapport enjoyed between the city and the air station.

Havelock's central location puts it within easy reach of the Neuse River, coastal beaches, championship golf courses, and historic sites.

New Bern is North Carolina's second oldest city and was the first colonial capital of the state. Nestled at the junction of the Neuse and the Trent Rivers, the city was settled in 1710 by Swiss and German colonists, and its name was derived from Bern, Switzerland, its sister city.

Its long and colorful history is displayed along its tree-canopied streets in a variety of restored homes and churches, with the elegant Tryon Palace Complex, once the home of Royal Governor William Tryon, serving as the manicured centerpiece.

New Bern offers a number of museums, shopping areas, excellent dining, a range of cultural activities and wealth of historical attractions.

Oriental, located in Pamlico County, is a quaint village on the other side of the Neuse River from New Bern and has become something of a major sailing center with charter service available. You can catch your own tasty Neuse River blue crabs from the docks or dine in one of the friendly restaurants. To get there you can take Highway 55 across from New Bern or sail the free ferry from Havelock to Minnesott Beach, and then on to Oriental.

Across the Neuse River from Oriental, into Carteret County—the Morehead City, the Crystal Coast's largest city, hosts the annual Big Rock Blue Marlin Fishing Tournament and is home to a large fleet of charter fishing boats for a half day or full day of fishing in the Gulf Stream. Morehead City is the site for the North Carolina State Port Terminal as well as being the area's military traffic embarkation point. Also located in Morehead City is The History Place, a non-profit museum and historic society displaying area families and artifacts. Nearby is Atlantic Beach with its sandy beaches.

For you history buffs, Carteret County is a lesson in history. You can explore the streets where Blackbeard and other famous sailors once roamed in the port city of Beaufort, the third oldest town in North Carolina. While in Beaufort, visit the beautifully restored 18th century homes which are open for tours. You can also visit the North Carolina Maritime Museum that serves as an information clearing-house for yachtsmen, crews, skippers and the general public.

Witness a living history program at the southern stronghold of Fort Macon, where Civil War scenarios are re-enacted. Located on the east end of Bogue Banks, the 365-acre State Park houses, within the fort, a museum commemorating Civil War battles. A public beach for swimming has bathhouse facilities and a lifeguard on duty during the summer months.

The North Carolina Marine Resources Center, located in the central part of Bogue Banks in Pine Knoll Shores, is situated in the Theodore Roosevelt State Park. The Center, which is free and open to the public all year, houses aquariums featuring both saltwater and freshwater animals and plants native to North Carolina's coast. It also has exhibits and sea lore movies.

At the western entrance to Carteret County on U.S. 70 is the city of Newport. Located about 10 miles south of Cherry Point's main gate, Newport has gained the reputation as a "city with old-fashioned courtesy." The friendly, busy farming community hosts the annual Pig Cookin' Contest, which includes pig roasts, music and a car show featuring local race cars.

"Crystal Coast" of North Carolina—you can reach the Outer Banks by toll ferry from Cedar Island, the northeastern most point of the Carteret County mainland. Here, too, are modern accommodations, excellent seafood dining, gift shops, and camping facilities. Hunting season here offers a variety of game, with guides and equipment available.

Also accessible by ferry is Cape Lookout National Seashore, an expanse of sun, sand, and sky. At its north end is Portsmouth Island, once a thriving seaport, now uninhabited. The southern end is the site of the famous Cape Lookout Lighthouse, which for over a hundred years has warned mariners of shipwrecks, the dangerous shoals, and currents offshore.

Carteret County is headquarters for some of the finest Gulf Stream big game fishing on the eastern seaboard.

CHERRYPOINT

THE HEART OF COASTAL CAROLINA

The Marine Air Community at Havelock-Cherry Point, N.C., is truly unique in all the Corps. The official city seal and logo of the Greater Havelock Chamber of Commerce both feature the venerable Harrier, and every wholesome activity from youth sports to church fellowship is a model of civilian-military teamwork here. Newcomers and young Marines and sailors for whom Cherry Point is a first duty station may be amazed at the hometown quality of life in the area. Opportunities for service and community involvement abound, and whether it's Scouting, coaching in a kid's soccer league or getting involved with clubs like Civitan or Rotary, men and women in uniform have always been welcomed with open arms.

Special events throughout the year—the Chili Festival and Christmas Parade, the Newport Pig Cookin' and the Morehead City Seafood Festival—introduce the uninitiated to the unique, friendly culture of eastern North Carolina.

North Carolina Information

LEGAL RESIDENCE

Service members and their dependents who are stationed at Cherry Point are said to reside in North Carolina because they maintain a place to live in the state (even if their home is in the barracks). Marines and sailors who establish North Carolina as their place of residence intend to make the state their permanent home. This includes paying taxes to the state, registering to vote and registering vehicles. A wife does not automatically have the same residence as her husband. The fact that a dependent takes a job while the sponsor is stationed in North Carolina does not of itself make the dependent a citizen of North Carolina.

INCOME TAX/PERSONAL PROPERTY TAX

Among the subjects addressed by the Soldier's and Sailors' Civil Relief Act is taxation. The Act benefits you, the service member, by exempting your service pay and personal property from taxation by the state in which you are stationed, in this case, North Carolina. However, you are subject to the income tax and personal property tax of your home state.

The application of the North Carolina personal property tax law varies, depending upon your status (i.e., military, non-military spouse, citizen or non-citizen of North Carolina, living on base, living off base). Be sure to check with the Joint Law Center on the air station to clarify your status.

Recent legislation exempts North Carolina residents from paying income tax on active duty and military retirement income. The Act does not apply to spouses and dependents of service members unless they are also in the service. The income and personal property of civilian spouses and dependents can be taxed in North Carolina as well as by their state of residence and the state where the income is earned.

You should also be aware that income which service members earn from North Carolina sources through part-time work will probably be taxable by North Carolina.

SEAT BELTS

It is the law in North Carolina that all front seat occupants of vehicles wear seat belts. Persons over 16 years of age are individually responsible whether or not that person is the driver. A child less than 6 years of age must be restrained, no matter where seated, by an appropriate child-restraint system. A child 3 years or older may meet this requirement by wearing a seat belt. Children less than 3 years old must be restrained in a safety seat meeting federal standards.

DRINKING AGE

The drinking age in North Carolina is 21, and it applies to Cherry Point as well.

NOTE: If you have any questions about the above topics or on any legal matter, contact the Joint Law Center, in Bldg. 219, at 252-466-2361.

dum notification from the Marine Corps Exchange up to receive the call.

CALL BACK, LOCAL: When the station you are calling is busy, you can "tell" the telephone system to automatically call that number when it is available.
This is called Call Back. Upon receiving a busy signal on a local base call, flash the hookswitch and listen for recall dial tone. Dial access code *75 and listen for confirmation tone. Hang up. A reorder tone means try again later. Intercept tone means the request is denied. When the line is available, your telephone will ring as if an incoming call is being received, answer the telephone in a normal manner.
